Stop The Intruder

Synopsis

This training course reveals what you need to know to protect your home, family and property from the scoundrels who make their living ripping people off while utterly annihilating their sense of security. In this ground-breaking training course, David Benton's background, skills and abilities are distilled into practical easy-to understand steps to give you the information you need to STOP THE INTRUDER! By taking the necessary steps to protect your family and reduce the likelihood of a break-in or home invasion, you'll sleep better... and your insurance rates will likely drop, too, when you can prove what you've done to keep your premises secure and your loved ones safe.

Customer Reviews

I STRONGLY recommend this book to everyone. I have been looking for a book on how to protect my family members and my house from the burglars and such, and this was recommended to me by a friend. I decided to give it try and let me tell you, THIS THE ONLY BOOK you need to understand and KNOW how to protect your valuable possessions. Everything is well organized and broken down into sections covering the basics of security fundamentals, planning, and defence of your house and yet no boring adds of security systems. This book changes your mindset on house security in general and statistics on crimes are mind boggling. Author shares his skills and offers practical steps how to stop the intruder and how to incorporate them into your daily life. It is written in very concise and clear language. I could tell it was written by a high professional, where everything was short and to the point. I really liked the appendixes with key emergency contact lists, first aid equipment and statistics on the crime analysis. I personally think it is a MUST HAVE in every household!

The book is easy to read and gives you necessary information without complicated strategies or expensive purchases list. It does not advertise any security system, just tells you how to protect all that matters to you in easy steps! The statistics on crimes in your neighborhood will surprise you... and might change your mind about security of your home, identity, etc. The author has military training, and you would think that tough guy is not afraid if anyone or anything, but he knows he cannot always be there and protect the family, so he shares his experience of stopping the intruder.
